

Lodge's Leap Into Politics Hailed by Scranton Backers

Ambassador Says He Won't Be Candidate

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge's return from South Viet Nam might offer Republicans a choice of candidates to oppose Sen. Barry Goldwater for the GOP presidential nomination.

Lodge announced in Saigon Tuesday he was quitting his ambassadorial post and coming home because he felt it was his "duty to do everything that I can to help Gov. Scranton to win for president."

Later, he said "there are no hidden meanings" in his decision to return to the United States and he is "not a candidate at all."

AP News Analysis

He added, "I am not going back at all in order to convene at anything for myself. I cannot be drafted."

Lodge's decision to jump into presidential politics was widely heralded by the backers of Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton as a major development in his efforts to win delegates away from Goldwater.

Scranton said he was delighted by Lodge's decision to return and added, "This is another big boost for his rapidly expanding campaign." He said he hoped to have Lodge "go around and tell the people why they should be for me."

Supporters of Goldwater, who has more than enough publicity committed convention votes to win the nomination if his delegates stand pat, generally discounted Lodge's move.

Goldwater, in a statement issued Tuesday, avoided any reference to Lodge's declaration that he would campaign for Scranton.

LEAPS INTO PRESIDENTIAL POLITICS — The return of Henry Cabot Lodge may offer Republicans a wider choice of candidates for the GOP presidential nomination, although Lodge insists he is not a candidate. The ambassador to South Viet Nam is shown above entering his car in Saigon.

Instead, the Arizona said, "Ambassador Lodge is to be congratulated for bearing up this long under such adverse conditions. The Johnson-McNamara program of indecision and vacillation has made it impossible for him to carry out his ambassadorial functions properly and undoubtedly motivated his resignation." Lodge gave no

Congress Work Speedup Asked

GOP Terms LBJ Request 'Unfair'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's call to Congress to go on a six-day work week until next month's Republican national convention brought angry protests today from GOP House leaders.

"It just isn't fair play," said Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

"This looks like an attempt by the President of the United States to sabotage the Republican convention," commented Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the GOP Platform Committee.

The committee starts its sessions in San Francisco July 6, one week before the convention opens. Many members of Congress are on the committee. Many others want to air their views before it.

Republicans had counted on the House being in recess the entire week starting July 6, with the Senate holding only token sessions.

The recess outlook has dimmed because of Johnson's reported insistence that Congress enact the civil rights bill and start action on his anti-poverty program before the convention.

The President said at a news conference Tuesday he wants Congress to work longer and act on about 30 "desirable" proposals before adjournment.

He prodded the legislators to give his proposals their "full attention six days a week until the Republican convention" and then return to work after the convention.

Leaders had planned to seek final adjournment before the Democratic convention opens in

Named Ambassador to Viet Nam

Senate Approval Of Taylor Assured

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, who has never known defeat, flies to war-torn South Viet Nam soon to take over as U.S. ambassador. He is expected to provide a single tight and unified command over U.S. civilian and military efforts.

The soldier-diplomat was named to the Saigon post Tuesday by President Johnson after the resignation of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge. Taylor plans to leave for his new post in 10 days or two weeks.

Lodge said he was coming home to help Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton try to win the GOP presidential nomination.

In Saigon Tuesday night, Lodge declared: "I am not a candidate at all and I am not going back at all in order to connive at anything for myself. I cannot be drafted and there are no hidden meanings."

Scranton said he was delighted at Lodge's decision and added, "This is another big boost for this rapidly expanding campaign."

Johnson's selection of Taylor for the hot spot assignment won strong approval on Capitol Hill. Democrats and Republicans joined in predicting overwhelming Senate confirmation.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tempers flared in the House Tuesday, when Reps. Wayne L. Hays of Ohio and Wright Patman of Texas engaged in an hour-long quarrel over funds to investigate the Federal Reserve System.

The exchange between the two Democrats began when Hays, chairman of a House administration subcommittee, accused Patman of inspiring newspaper stories and editorials and others implying that Hays was part of a conspiracy to block the investigation of the Federal Reserve System.

Patman, chairman of the Banking Committee, denied anything to do with the publication. Patman had wanted to sign contracts with several economic NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — World War I hero Sgt. Alvin York has been placed on the critical list at Veterans Hospital here as the result of pneumonia in his right lung.

"He has developed pneumonia and his blood pressure has fallen," said a hospital spokesman. "This may be due to a blood clot in the lung, which he has had before, or a blood stream infection. He is a sick man."

Until pneumonia developed Tuesday, York's doctors were beginning to hint that he might soon return to his home in tiny Pall Mall, Tenn., about 140 miles northeast of here. The 76-year-old medal of honor winner was rushed here June 19 after suffering a recurrence of internal bleeding.

Leaves Tonight on Visit to Germany

RFK Won't Enter Race For Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy begins a sentimental mission to Germany tonight on the heels of his announcement that he will not seek the Democratic senatorial nomination in New York.

Kennedy's brief statement

Tuesday on the Senate race shed no further light on his future. But it left open the door to any invitation from President Johnson to join him as vice-presidential nominee on the Democratic ticket.

Thus ended long weeks of speculation whether Kennedy would accede to the urgings of New York friends and Democratic leaders, move to the Empire State and seek the nomination to run against Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating.

"I deeply appreciate the loyalty and friendship of those who have urged me to run and who believe I could perform a service for the people of New York," Kennedy said in a statement handed out at the Justice Department.

Won't Be Candidate

"However, in fairness to them and to end speculation, I wish to state that I will not be a candidate for United States senator from New York," he said.

There was little elaboration on Kennedy's statement from the Justice Department. But two key factors emerged as most influential.

One is the civil rights picture. Final passage of the rights bill, with all of its enforcement problems, is imminent. The beginnings of the "long, hot summer" in race relations already are evident. The attorney general is the nation's top civil rights strategist. He has committed himself to staying on the job through Johnson's present term. And his hands will be full of civil rights chores.

The second factor is his brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., whose back was broken in a plane crash last week.

Tuesday's decision threw into sharper focus Robert Kennedy's role as head of the Kennedy family since the assassination last November of his brother, President John F. Kennedy. His injured younger brother — will add to the demands on Robert Kennedy's time. And to run in New York, he feels, would require an immediate campaign.

To Address Berliners

The attorney general will speak this Friday on the first anniversary of John F. Kennedy's stirring speech to Berliners, when he proclaimed himself one of them in spirit. Robert Kennedy will speak from the identical spot in the John F. Kennedy Square in West Berlin.

From Germany he will travel to Poland, next to London, before returning during the first week in July.

Relief

Pleasant Weather Follows Severe Ohio Storms

Ohioans looked forward to enjoying pleasant relief from the torrid weather of the past few days—thanks to a cold front which brought mixed blessings of a d a m a g i n g thunderstorms along with cooler temperatures.

Temperatures were forecast to be in the 70s and 80s today, a sharp contrast with the 90s and 95s recorded Thursday, and the humidity was expected to be much lower.

The change in weather was caused by a cold front which came down from the northwest Tuesday afternoon.

But before the front brought the welcome change, it touched off storms which caused property damage from Ashtabula in the far northeastern part of the state down to Xenia in the southwest.

The storms, caused when the cold air met the hot humid currents, showered the state with heavy rain accompanied by high winds and in some places hail.

A tunnel cloud just east of Xenia did about $22,000 damage to farm property when it peeled the roof off a house, demolished a barn, several hog pens and a garage and left a path of debris about 400 feet long.

At Columbus, more than an inch of rain fell in 34 minutes and wind gusts reached 40 miles an hour, causing property damage. The heavy rain hit the capital during afternoon rush hour, snarling traffic and drenching people on their way home from work.

At least 30 trees were reported knocked down in a four-block

Young Civil Rights Workers Feared Murdered

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — Federal and state agents resumed and intensified door-to-door and gully-to-gully search at daybreak here today for three missing civil rights workers.

A posse of lawmen combed the swampy area in this east central Mississippi section.

Allen W. Dulles, former Chief of the Central Intelligence Agency, expects to leave for Mississippi this afternoon on a White House mission to look into the mysterious disappearance of the young trio.

The charred hulk of the station wagon used by the trio was found by FBI agents late Tuesday at the edge of a swamp off a lonely road northeast of this central Mississippi town.

Philadelphia is the seat of justice for Neshoba County, called "Bloody Neshoba" by Mississippians for its history of settling feuds by gunfire.

Clamps Lid On Probe

The FBI clamped a lid on most of its investigation.

A Mississippi highway patrolman told a newsmen: "The FBI has taken over entirely."

Highway patrol units conducted a house-to-house search late into the night. More patrolmen were expected today.

Missing are Andy Goodman, 20, and Michael Schwerner, 24, both of New York City, and James Cheney, 22, Negro from nearby Meridian.

They were last seen Sunday night in Philadelphia after Cheney paid a $20 fine for speeding.

The White House announced that President Johnson had ordered Dulles to the state to coordinate the probe.

Dulles will confer with Gov. Paul B. Johnson, other top state

Principals Get Salary Boosts

W. Branch Board Hires 3 Teachers

The salaries of four West Branch principals were raised Tuesday night, but the Board of Education deferred action on increases for non-certificated personnel. Three new teachers, two from Salem, were employed for the 1964-65 term.

Junior High principal Paul Butch was granted a new two-year contract on a 11-month basis with his salary set at $7,900 for the first year and $8,000 for the second. His salary has been $7,200.

Three elementary principals were granted one-year contracts on the basis of 10 months' work. John Mensch of Knox Local was raised $200 from $7,000. Mrs. Olga Schenk, Maple Ridge principal, will be paid $7,200, also an increase of $200, and Eugene Smythe, Beloit Elementary and Goshen Center principal, will receive $6,800, up $300 from his previous salary.

The board is still seeking satisfactory replacements for Ramon Scott and Burt Hendricks, resigned high school principal and assistant principal, respectively. Scott has not announced his plans while Hendricks has gone into Youngstown industrial work. The salaries of these posts were left open pending the board's decision on the replacements.

Executive head Clinton Heacock said today 11 applications have been received for the principal's position and four for the assistant. The board will begin interviewing applicants Monday night at a special session, hoping to choose the principal first to allow him a hand in choosing his aide.

Also postponed until Monday night was the possibility of wage hikes for custodians, bus drivers, cooks and secretaries. However, contracts were renewed with these staff members

Alf H. Fults of 1822 Oak St., officer for the Columbiana Humane Society for the past 21 years, has resigned, effective Tuesday.

Fults, whose $120 monthly salary is shared on a 50-50 basis by the humane society and the city of Salem, was first appointed to the county job March 2, 1943, and sworn in by the late Judge H. W. Hammond.

Fults was a Salem grocer for many years. He operated his own store on N. Ellsworth Ave. at one time and was with the old Oriental store on S. Broadway earlier. He was a Perry Township constable for nearly 20 years.

His resignation as humane officer was submitted today to Eldon R. Groves, president of the county group.

Prince Edward Board Votes Money To Reopen Schools

FARMVILLE, Va. (AP)—One of the last barriers has been cleared away for reopening public schools in Prince Edward County, closed five years ago to avoid desegregation.

The County Board of Supervisors, acting under a federal court order voted 4-2 Tuesday to appropriate school operating funds for this fall.

U.S. Dist. Judge Oren R. Lewis, carrying out a mandate from the U.S. Supreme Court, had given the Board of Supervisors until Thursday to act.

The $189,000 county appropriation, plus state funds, will provide classes for about 1,600 pupils — the number of Negro school-age children in Prince Edward.

Public schools will be operated "without racial discrimination," said the board, but most white children are expected to continue classes in the private, segregated schools they have attended since 1959.

An appropriation of $375,000 was approved for tuition grants, which will go to white children attending private schools, if and when Judge Lewis lifts an injunction against continued use of the schools. The private schools had an enrollment of 1,242 for the term which began last September.

The supervisors raised personal and real property taxes from $1 per $100 to $2.50 and doubled the 30 cents per $100 merchants capital tax. Judge Lewis had ordered the supervisors to levy taxes if necessary to raise school funds.

The County School Board had asked for $339,000. The $189,000 is less than a third of the $739, the last year the county operated them.

County School Supt. T. J. McIlwaine, said he did not know if the $189,000 voted by the supervisors would be adequate.

One remaining obstacle to reopening the schools is the hiring of teachers. The term begins in less than three months.

The supervisors' action was welcomed by Gov. Albert S. Harrison Jr., who said, "It would appear that this represents a bona fide effort by the governing body of Prince Edward County to comply with the order of the federal court."

Negro children went without formal education for four years. Last summer a system of free schools supported by public contributions was organized. It is to end in August.

When ambulance attendants reached the scene, they called for the coroner. The apparently lifeless body of Walter Felder lay between the tracks. The train's wheels had amputated his arms and legs.

Then attendants detected a spark of life. Walter, 13, was hospitalized. Five surgeons battled to keep him alive. In a corridor outside, his mother, Ann McGruder, 42, waited. "My boy is strong," she said. "He's very husky. I'm sure if anyone can pull through this, he can. He's a real boy."

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Health Questions And Answers

Q—What would cause my 2½-year old daughter to be irritable? She whines all day and I'm a wreck. Our doctor says there's nothing wrong with her, but she's getting worse.

A—It is normal for a child to be irritable when she has a fever, is overtired, or has a nagging discomfort of any sort. On the other hand, a chronic whiner usually has no organic disease, but may have a feeling of insecurity. This may be the result of neglect or of overindulgence which is often a cover up for a lack of true affection. Such a child, although not physically sick now, will suffer poor health all her life unless there is a change in her emotional background.

Q—Our daughter has a superabundance of freckles. What can we do to get rid of them and keep them from coming back?

A—Although several preparations have been tried for the removal of freckles, none is satisfactory. They either cause a severe reaction similar to eczema or the results are only temporary. Many people find freckles very attractive and certainly no one should regard them as a disease.

The best course would be for your daughter to learn to live with them. But if she is self-conscious about them, she should avoid exposure to the sun because that darkens them. If that doesn't satisfy her, she should try a masking cream.

Q—My 12-year-old son developed a bald spot the size of a dime on the back of his head about six months ago. Our doctor said it was nothing to worry about. He now has four such spots on his scalp. What would you advise?

A—This patchy baldness is, as your doctor says, no cause for alarm. The condition usually clears up spontaneously. After several months, the hair gradually comes in again.

Since the cause is unknown, there is no specific treatment, but various general measures are believed by some to be helpful. These include giving vitamin B complex, ultraviolet light or gradually increasing exposure to the sun, massage, and the application of a stimulating ointment containing anhrain or prednisolene.

Q—Our 11-year-old son weighs 105 pounds and is 57 inches tall. Is this considered overweight? If so, how many calories should he be allowed each day?

A—Your son is of average height for his age and is definitely above average in weight. The number of calories he requires depends on how active he is, but in order to keep his weight within the normal range, you should cut down his intake of such concentrated foods as margarine or butter, bread, candy, cake and jam and substitute fruit and gelatin desserts.

Methodists Hear Of Need for Outdoor Services

LAKEVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Delegates at the Methodist North-East Ohio Annual Conference have been told there is a need for outdoor worship services in mobile home communities, state parks and resort areas to increase the denomination's membership.

Rev. Howard Mumma, Akron district superintendent, urged these means in his state of the church report at the opening session Tuesday.

"If we can get the people to listen outdoors, then they will eventually come into the church to worship." Three million Ohioans do not belong to a church, he declared, adding that only renewal of the church will save local congregations from becoming self-admiration societies.

"Too long have laymen regarded the church as a nice club for nice people, allowing themselves to be content with nominal Christianity," the Rev. Mr. Mumma said. He said church members are developing "spectatoritis" by trying to buy the services of professionals to do their praying.

Expressing concern for what he called the increasing number of businesses open on Sunday, the report stated, "It is time churchmen throughout made their witness for the preservation of the sabbath by refusing to buy on Sunday."

TO RECONSIDER BILL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, charging that the $5.246 billion space authorization bill "went through the Senate like lightning," was among several senators who demanded Tuesday that the measure be reconsidered.

Yielding to the demands, the Senate agreed to reconsider its approval of the measure.

Among other things the bill authorized $770,000 for the Lewis Research Center at Cleveland and Sandusky, Ohio.

Gov. Scranton Turns South In Search of Delegates

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania turned south today in his search for delegates to support him for the Republican presidential nomination.

The 46-year-old governor, seeking to overtake Sen. Barry Goldwater, aimed his turbo-prop plane at West Virginia, 14 delegates, and Florida, 34 delegates.

Scranton hailed the announcement of support by Henry Cabot Lodge as a "tremendous step forward" in his campaign. Lodge resigned as ambassador to South Viet Nam and said he was returning home to help Scranton.

Scranton's aides said today's trip was aimed mainly at shoring up the uncommitted ranks in the two delegations. The secondary aim was conversion of delegates to the Scranton cause — particularly those now backing Goldwater.

Goldwater leads The Associated Press poll with 694 delegates, more than enough for nomination if he can hold them.

In West Virginia, the Arizona senator has four delegates. Scranton has two and eight are uncommitted. In Florida Goldwater has 22; 11 are uncommitted, and one stands opposed to Goldwater.

Scranton was enthusiastic about the results of his delegate hunt in Delaware and New Jersey. He claimed "far more than a majority" of the 12-vote Delaware delegation. Sen. Clifford P. Case of New Jersey told newsmen Scranton could expect a "big majority" of the 40-vote New Jersey delegation.

The Delaware delegation pledged itself officially to favor-

Breakthrough In Energy

Earlier this month in a commencement address at Holy Cross College, President Johnson made a quiet announcement that in other circumstances would have set off fireworks. The remark was scarcely more than noticed in routine news reports.

"In the past several months," he said, "we have achieved an economic breakthrough in the use of large-scale reactors for commercial power."

Since the first nuclear power plant started in 1957, this news had been awaited.

A step forward was made last February when the two largest manufacturers of nuclear generators announced sharp price reductions. The reductions brought closer the time when nuclear power plants might account for as much as half the electric energy generated in the United States; when nuclear plants would be competitive with traditional plants.

Benefits would not be limited to production of electric energy. Many other uses for the heating potential of nuclear energy are foreseen. One of the most exciting is the use of nuclear energy to desalt sea water, which would overshadow all other results of a nuclear breakthrough. Most arid lands lack coal to supply traditional generating plants.

Atom-splitting, unfortunately, is still handicapped by the impression left by the use of the first atomic bombs at Hiroshima and Nagasaki. This causes every fearful misgivings and, in many instances, forthright opposition.

An atomic bomb and an atomic power reactor have only one thing in common. Both involved fission chain reactions. But a power reactor cannot become a bomb any more than a bomb can become a power reactor.

There never has been a grave nuclear incident. But before the nuclear breakthrough hailed by President Johnson can materialize, people must take the nuclear experts' word for it that fears of explosions and dangerous radiation are without foundation.

Smoother Crossings

Salem motorists, we assume, will be patient while the Pennsylvania Railroad repairs its grade crossings in the city. They know how bumpy most of the crossings are and are willing to use a detour temporarily while the tracks are being realigned.

Railroad officials have assured city officials that all of the crossings will be improved, including the Lisbon Rd. (Rt. 45) grade crossing which is not in the city proper. It is heavily traveled, however, and will be used more extensively after the new A&P refrigerated warehouse is put into operation.

Relaxing Vacations?

Vacationers who often worry about how things are back home, also must be alert to prevent themselves from being victimized by sneak thieves while traveling. In recent weeks, a group of Salem people attending a wedding in the Boston, Mass., area had a lot of personal belongings stolen from a motel where they were staying. Several days ago a Salem man was awakened at 3 a. m. in his motel room by a burglar who threw ammonia in his face and fled with most of the victim's clothing.

These may be isolated cases but the incidents point to the need for all of us to be on guard, even if we are supposed to be on a relaxing vacation.

Summer Terror

By Truman Twill

In the wintertime when I yearn for June, thunderstorms and middle-of-the-night "showers" are always conveniently absent from my thoughts.

Also absent are high humidity, doors that swell up and can't be closed, drawers that can't be opened, bake-oven autos parked in the sun, mosquitoes, flies, odd-shaped females galloping around in outfits that make a viewer's eyes water, and hirsute, bulbous-bellied males making a public display of their lack of physical conditioning.

But thunderstorms are the hardest to take.

And the lightning that comes with them.

One of our finest trees, a cottonwood with a trunk like a factory chimney, was struck and partly killed by lightning, last summer a maple was shattered. Another summer an ancient willow. Twice there lightning seriously.

has been a disaster to oaks. We take only once have I seen it strike an oak, which withstood the lightning bolt, though the impact caused bark to fly. My fright is rooted in childhood, when every summer storm meant possible tragedy on the farm where I lived during June, July and August.

EVERY CRACKLE and smash of lightning brought an anxious scanning of the barn cupolas to detect evidence of damage, or the tell-tale plume of smoke that would mean ruin.

Every storm that caught us outside brought renewed warnings about not taking shelter under trees that might be struck, not carrying a pitchfork pointed upward, not risking injury if the horses panicked and bolted.

No one in his right mind ever takes a thunderstorm lightly in the country, and no one who ever lived in the country ever forgets the quiet terror country folk feel when thunderclaps are rattling windows and lightning bolts are shattering composure. An electrical storm is Ruritani as moment of truth.

Blizzards can be formidable in winter. But even when the wind howls, blizzards are relatively silent. They are blanketing the earth with snow, insulating it against harm.

A thunderstorm, in contrast, strips the earth and everything on it of all security, leaving cowering man and his quivering environment naked to the fury of that fiery sword wildly stabbing earth ward.

IF ANYTHING about this suggests the writer is petrified with fear when June brings not only roses but thunderclaps and lightning bolts, the idea is getting through.

There always has been at least one Twillery dog as scared as the head of the household. There used to be an Irish setter who would get in bed with the master during middle-of-the-night storms, put his head on the pillow and shake uncontrollably until the storm subsided.

He was a great comfort. The noise of the vibrating bedstead could be blamed on HIM.

Balanced Picture of U.S.

By VICTOR RIESEL

In an austere international conference room of one of Geneva's old League of Nations "palaces" this summer an American Negro leader, Whitney Young, will take the podium and face an unusual gathering of world scholars.

Young will be those from the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and India. He will not be defiant. Neither will he defer. He will speak frankly of the bitter racial battle back home, but he will warn — and advise — against the use of this conflict beat down the U.S. image abroad.

Whitney Young Jr., head of the National Urban League, whose militancy is second to none in the leadership of his people, will speak bluntly of the tremendous Negro gains in the U.S. He will say that he would rather live in this land and make his fight here than anywhere else in the world.

SINCE YOUNG will be talking to scholars brought together by the American Foundation on Automation and Employment, Inc., headed by industrialist and world crusader John I. Snyder Jr., he will provide the specific grist for their mills — some startling statistics which prove the Negro in America is better off than billions of people elsewhere.

Young will point out that the total income of American Negroes in 1963 after taxes was $21.9 billion. As he faces such socialist intellectuals as Poland's Prof. Andrzej Salewski, who is scheduled to talk on the influence of automation on top level management in Poland, Young will talk of Negro housing in America.

By 1960, U.S. Negroes owned, four million homes. And the vast percentages of these are in non-farm areas. Since this figure is four years old, conservative estimates now put it at some half a million homes higher than in '60. Tens of thousands of these are worth over $35,000, and many of the latter are in Southern states.

AS FOR AUTOMOBILES, the total Negro population of some 18 million now owns 2278 million cars.

Employment? During the past year 8.1 million Negroes worked. This means that 76 per cent of all Negro males were at work compared with 78 per cent of white males. No one doubts that the white income was higher in general but not in all businesses and industries.

As of 1962 the average income of all Negro workers was $3,523 a year. However, the family unit income in non-farm areas has risen to an average of $5,810 where both the husband and wife work.

In the big industrial areas the wage is higher. Pay in these sectors runs even higher than that of executives in England and continental Europe. The General Motors Corp., for example, reports that it employs more than 44,000 non-whites who average more than $6,000 annually in wages and another $1,000 in fringe benefits.

IN SPEAKING of Negro income, it is generally overlooked that the average wage of all factory workers has topped $100 a week. This applies to Negroes as well as white workers in the mass industries such as auto, rubber, steel, and metal production.

Since 1.5 million Negroes are members of the AFL-CIO and tens of thousands belong to independent unions such as the Mine Workers and the Teamsters, they automatically get the same wage hikes and fringe benefits as other workers.

And then there is federal, state and municipal employment. The number of non-whites in these jobs sprang from 214,000 in 1940 to more than a million in 1962. Such employment ranges from blue-collar jobs to foreign ambassadorships and Cabinet level positions.

In 1962 the increase in Negro employment in such civil service fields was over 300 per cent more than that of the whites. All these statistics are now on Whitney Young's desk as he prepares to go to the dramatic conference which opens in the Swiss city on July 20. And nowhere could such blunt talk be more effectively made than at this parley of the International Institute for Labor Studies.

THE CONFERENCE is the brainchild of John Snyder, head of U.S. Industries, Inc., a firm which produces automatic machinery. There is compassion in this man. Some years ago he began studying the impact of automation and decided to put a tax on each of the machines his firm sold. With the proceeds of this self-imposed tax Snyder launched and financed the American Foundation on Automation and Employment, Inc., which soon had a counterpart in the United Kingdom.

Now for the first time scholars from the world over will meet to discuss "Employment Problems of Automation and Advanced Technology." Some of those scholars, especially from behind the Iron Curtain, will for the first time get a balanced picture of our land.

The Court on Communists

By DAVID LAWRENCE

A majority of the members of the Supreme Court of the United States apparently are not ready to help their government fight the cold war effectively.

They prefer technicalities to realities. In another of its sweeping decisions, the highest court in the land is willing to consider a member of the Communist party as no different from a member of the Democratic or Republican party or any other political organization of citizens.

Yet J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, whose knowledge of the intricacies of espionage and acts of subversion is unequalled in this country, told Congress last January that the Communist party in this country is an agent of the Soviet government. He declared:

"The determination of the Soviet Union to maintain the Communist party, U.S.A. and to strengthen and direct it in such a way as to make it a continuing danger to this nation is clearly evidenced by the fact that for the past 44 years Soviet Russia has in one way or another directed and controlled the Communist party, U.S.A. and helped to finance it."

THE CONGRESS of the United States recognizing this danger, passed a law forbidding the issuance of American passports to any members of the Communist organization in America. Now the Supreme Court of the United States has declared this law unconstitutional because it does not provide for proof in advance that the passport would be misused.

Only a Communist agent who is willing to tell ahead of time exactly what acts of espionage he may intend to commit or what information he may be getting ready to transmit to a foreign government could thus be prevented by law from getting a passport of the United States government.

Justice Goldberg, who wrote the opinion for the Supreme Court majority, declared that "freedom of travel is a constitutional liberty closely related to rights of free speech and as such."

Justice Douglas, who concurred in this opinion, wrote as follows:

"Being a Communist certainly is not a crime; and while traveling may increase the likelihood of illegal events happening, so does being alive."

JUSTICE DOUGLAS added that war might be a condition for "serious curtailment of liberty," but unless there was a war, he could see no way of keeping a citizen from traveling inside or outside the country.

This is but another way of stating that the cold war is not considered to be a war and that the interests of the United States cannot be protected through preventive measures.

Justices Clark, Harlan and White in their dissenting opinion quoted from a statute passed by Congress in 1954 which stated that "the Communist party of the United States . . . is in fact an instrumentality of a conspiracy to overthrow the government of the United States."

The three justices declared that the findings by Congress concerning the nature of the Communist party should be binding upon the Supreme Court.

"The right to travel is not absolute. Congress had ample evidence that use of passports by Americans belonging to the world Communist movement is security."

In 1950 Congress determined, in the Subversive Activities Control Act, that foreign travel is a prerequisite for the carrying on of activities to further the purposes of the Communist movement. The Congress had before it evidence that such passports by Communist party members:

1. "Enabled the leaders of the world Communist movement in Soviet Union to give order to their comrades in the United States and to exchange vital secrets as well;

2. "Facilitated the training of American Communist leaders by experts in sabotage and the like in Moscow;

3. "Gave closer central control to the world Communist movement; and, of utmost importance,

4. "Provided world Communist leaders with passports for Soviet secret agents to use in the United States for espionage purposes."

"This evidence afforded the Congress a rational basis upon which to place the denial of passports to members of the Communist party in the United States."

"The denial is reasonably related to the national security. The degree of restraint upon travel is outweighed by the danger to our very existence. The remedy adopted by the Congress is reasonably tailored to accomplish the purpose."

What the majority of the Supreme Court has said in the case, however, is law. So today the Department of State, the Department of Defense and the law-enforcement agencies of the United States government are thwarted in their attempts to protect the security of the United States by measures which would prevent Communist party members in this country from acting as a means of communication for the Soviet government.

GI Bill: Boon to Nation

By RICHARD SPONG

THE 20th anniversary of the GI Bill of Rights is a striking reminder that times of great peril often produce great good. The Normandy bridgehead was only 16 days old when President Roosevelt signed the measure that was formally known as the Servicemen's Aid Act of 1944. Allied fortunes in the Pacific were even more uncertain.

A grateful Congress built better than it could have known. The GI Bill was the capstone to a long series of measures enacted by Congress — beginning in 1940 — to provide special benefits for members of the armed services and their dependents.

THE BENEFITS provided in the earlier measures, covering such matters as disability compensation, hospitalization, pensions and vocational rehabilitation, were for the most part the same as extended to veterans of World War I. The principal additional benefits provided by the GI Bill were readjustment allowances, guaranty of loans and educational allowances.

The bill in effect had been passed and all other senators hastened to announce their support. The vote in the Senate was 50-0; in the House, 387 to 0.

Nearly 9 million veterans collected $3.2 billion for unemployment and $600 million for self-employment during a post-War period when jobs were hard to find. This was somewhat more than the original estimate of the cost of the entire bill. Critics rallied at the "52-20 Club" $20 a week for 52 weeks. But Veterans Administration data show that the average veteran was on readjustment allowance rolls for only 19 weeks. And only 900,000 veterans exhausted their full rights to this benefit.

THE GI BILL turned the United States into a nation of homeowners. It helped build more than 6 million homes. It financed one out of every five post-War and post Korea homes — an investment of almost $58 billion — in the greatest housing boom in history.

But the undreamed miracle of the GI Bill sprang from its educational allowances. The bill sent almost 2.2 million ex-GIs to college. Almost half of World War II veterans used its clutch to attend schools, colleges and universities. The bill gave on-the-job training to 1.4 million vets; on-the-farm training to 700,000. And the veterans on campus set a new pattern of maturity.

The GI Bill provided the wherewithal in the making of 450,000 engineers, 180,000 doctors, dentists and nurses, 360,000 school teachers, 10,000 scientists, 107,000 lawyers, 243,000 accountants, 36,000 clergymen, 17,000 writers and journalists, 288,000 metalworkers, 138,000 electricians, 83,000 policemen and firemen, 61,000 printers and typesetters and 70,000 businessmen.

THE TOTAL COST of the education program was $14.5 billion. Subsidance allowances accounted for 80 per cent. Nearly all the remainder went for tuition and training costs. Five cents out of every dollar went for administration.

The GI Bill was a serendipitous miracle, for it gave America the skilled men and women she urgently needed in the aftermath of war. And the Veterans Administration concludes that the Bill is paying for itself at close to $1 billion a year — in the additional income taxes paid by these trained and prosperous veterans.

Matter of Fact

Ballet was introduced into the American colonies as early as 1735 when Henry Holt, a dancer from London, presented "The Adventures of Harlequin and Scaramouch, with the Burgo-master Trick'd," in Charleston, S.C. The romantic ballet in America reached its peak in the early 1840's with the visit of Fanny Elssler. When the Austrian dancer appeared in Washington, D.C., Congress was obliged to recess because it could not obtain a quorum.

GOLDWATER'S HARD-CORE DELEGATE VOTES — Sen. Barry Goldwater will arrive in San Francisco on July 13 with a minimum of 415 iron-clad first-ballot votes in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination. This is 240 votes shy of nomination, as the NEA News-map shows. The delegate vote breakdown is as follows: By virtue of winning the California and Indiana primaries, the senator has 118 legally bound votes. He picked up another 257 unshakable votes through various state Republican conventions. These 257 delegates will vote for Goldwater because they have been instructed to do so by the state convention. Another 40 delegates have personally pledged to vote for Goldwater. But, of course, all bets are off if Goldwater fails to be nominated on the first ballot. The delegates are then automatically released from their commitments.

Divorced Couple Will Alternate Possession of Dog

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—

Rorschach, an 8-year-old Dalmatian, will spend the summer alternating between a sumptuous home with a splendid picture window and a leading thoroughbred farm.

His master and mistress, Thomas E. and Bessie Hager Masters, are being divorced and each wants sole possession of the animal.

Masters says he has a concrete block doghouse with a picture window for Rorschach at his home at nearby Nicholasville. Mrs. Masters says she would keep the dog at Maine Chance Farm near Lexington.

Circuit Judge Nolan Carter ruled Tuesday they would alternate possession monthly, with visitation privileges, until the divorce is final.

After that, the judge said, he would have to figure out who gets the dog—or eventually just have to cut it in half."

Beauty A LA MODE

SUMMER HAZARD

Sun, sand and water can be beneficial in many ways, but they can play havoc on your complexion as well as your crowning glory. Avoid overexposure at all costs. The sun has a tendency to rob your hair and scalp of their natural oils with the result that your hair becomes dry and lifeless. This just won't do as it detracts from your appearance. If you want your hair soft and shining, give it the attention it demands.

Hair conditioning and scalp treatments are the answer to your problem. Bring out the highlights in your hair.

Hints From

Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: I would like to pass along a hint to campers or hunters who make their temporary homes in tents.

Dampness is always a problem but we have solved a portion of it.

We sleep on the floor of our tent (without cots). In the morning, when airing out blankets and sleeping bags, even with a good layer of newspaper for insulation, the floor of the tent would snow a great amount of moisture.

The solution, therefore is ... before pitching a tent, lay a plastic drop cloth on the area which has been cleared. These drop cloths can be bought at paint stores for about a dollar and they are usually 9x12 size. Be sure to cover all of the floor area of your tent.

Then place the tent over this plastic. In the morning you will have no wet floors!

We used this method for a week while camping in a damp area.

Now if someone could just find out how to keep the dampness out of the clothes we put on in the morning, we would appreciate it.

MRS. J. KROLL.

Anybody know? If so, do write to Heloise in care of this paper. Letters do not have to be signed.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: After I wash my hand-knit bedspread or crocheted table cloth, I use my curtain stretcher to dry them. They always come out perfectly square.

Fold the cloth in half. Then put it (folded double) on the stretcher. Take any starch (homemade or purchased), put it into a finger-type squirt bottle and spray away.

After drying, the folded side which has been attached to the nails may be laid flat and restretched (leaving the pricked part in the middle of the curtain stretcher) and spray starched again. This will eliminate all the folds.

If you don't want the trouble of restretching, dampen a wash cloth and press the center fold on the ironing board.

At any rate, the cloth always comes out a perfect square.

HELEN WHITE.

DEAR HELOISE: Sometimes a lace slip top comes up too high under the arm no matter how low you adjust it by the shoulder straps.

Here's what I did: I cut away the lace so that it would be comfortable. Then I took fine crochet thread and with a fine hook, single crocheted right through the lace, giving it a fine strong finish. Voila! The slip can now be worn with comfort.

Lodge

hint of such a factor in his letter of resignation.

While nobody questioned the sincerity of Lodge's commitment to back Scranton, some party strategists noted there were elements present that could lead to unpredictable developments.

This would be true particularly, they said, if there was a resurgence of Lodge's popularity in the national polls. These listed him as top choice of the rank and file for the nomination before he ran second to New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in the May 15 Oregon primary. Some polls still give Lodge high ratings.

Scranton, whose name was on the Oregon ballot, got only 2 per cent of the vote. His meager total there and his low rating in the national polls were viewed by his friends as the natural result of his position then that he was not a candidate and that he would only accept a nomination tendered him and the result of a genuine draft he did not think would come about.

Subsequently Scranton announced he was an active candidate against Goldwater and most of Lodge's backers said they would support the Pennsylvania governor.

One of Scranton's principal problems in his belated scramble for the nomination has been that many Republicans just do not know much about him and haven't learned where he stands on the issues.

As the 1960 GOP vice-presidential nominee, Lodge has general recognition among the party organization workers whose voices will be heard in delegation caucuses and whose votes will be recorded in the convention balloting.

Whether a significant number of them might decide that Lodge rather than Scranton, was the nominee they wanted remains a question to be answered at the convention.

Taylor

will have under him two old friends in key spots—Lt. Gen. William C. Westmoreland as U.S. military commander and veteran diplomat U. Alexis Johnson as his political deputy.

Westmoreland, one of the most promising of the Army's younger generals, has been considered a "Taylor man" for about a decade. Westmoreland served on Taylor's staff when the new ambassador was the Army's chief in the mid-1950s.

Johnson, deputy undersecretary of state for political affairs, has been close to Taylor for about 30 years. He said in an interview, "We have no magic answers but we are determined to do our best."

Stepping in behind Taylor as the new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff will be another Taylor "disciple," Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, who now is Army chief of staff.

Although congressional reaction to Taylor's appointment was mostly enthusiastic Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., called Johnson's decision to nominate a military man "a calamitous mistake."

last night. Teachers named were Miss Marjorie Hiltbrand of Salem, who will teach third grade; Miss Alice Bettimore of Salem, also an elementary teacher; and Miss Sandra Fike of Ashtabula, commercial instructor. They were given one-year contracts.

In other action the board accepted the resignation of Miss Helen Stokovich, Beloit School teacher, and granted a leave of absence for personal reasons to Mrs. Edna Carroll, sixth grade teacher at the same school.

Clerk Rhea Emmons was authorized to make payroll deductions of professional dues for teachers from September through December, following a request by the West Branch Teachers Association who claimed that a lump deduction posed a financial strain. The board stipulated, however, that the payroll deduction would be made only for those teachers who belong to at least five professional groups. Ben Davies, WBTA president, represented the group last night.

ists and others to work on the continuing investigation, but Hays' subcommittee had disproved the contracts.

Patman said Hays demanded that he obtain agreement of the senior Republican member of Hays said he merely wanted proof that a majority of the banking committee favored the contracts.

Hays said Patman hired experts favorable to his views, paid them with committee funds and then used them as witnesses, but Patman said it was cheaper to contract for specific research items than to "put the people on the payroll."

Intending for the missing youths, said he would welcome Dulles. "So long as Mr. Dulles is objective, I have no doubt that he will find that law and order prevail," the governor said.

The station wagon was found about 100 feet from State 21, 15 miles northeast of Philadelphia, where Owl Creek backs away to form a backwater slough.

There was speculation that the bodies of the three civil rights workers were somewhere under the dark, cold waters.

The station wagon was towed to a garage here and kept under guard. Two FBI laboratory technicians were to study it today.

Schwerner, who had been working in the Meridian area for several months, Cheney and Goodman were last seen about 10:30 p.m. Sunday, leaving Philadelphia in a southerly direction.

An FBI agent said the station wagon apparently was burned Sunday night or before dawn Monday.

Goodman was one of 175 out-of-state volunteers who arrived in Mississippi over the weekend to take part in Negro voter registration and education projects after training at Oxford, Ohio.

Woman Loses Suit

Against Repository

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Stark County widow lost her $100,000 suit today against the Canton Repository for publication of the last pictures taken of her husband lost on a Canadian fishing trip nearly seven years ago.

The Ohio Supreme Court refused to review lower court decisions denying the award to Mrs. Ruth J. Bower of Minerva.

Her husband, H. H. (Bill) Bower, and two companions disappeared about Nov. 10, 1957, in the Ottawa River area and were declared officially dead July 12, 1958.

Minerva residents who organized a search party found some of the missing man's gear and a camera. When exposed film was developed, it showed what was described as the last pictures taken of Bower and John K. Moore before they vanished.

Mrs. Bower maintained she paid for the film and claimed newspaper reproduction of the pictures, obtained from a search party member, violated her constitutional rights to hold private property.

Obnoxious Remarks

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks that fathers get tired of hearing: "Don't take off your shoes. Don't you remember — we're going out tonight." "Well, the cat finally had her kittens today. What are you going to do about them?" "That's your father coming in now, young man. Just wait until I tell him what you've been up to all day." "You can spank me if you want to, Dad. But if you do—don't expect any present from me next Father's Day." "No, I'm not going to cut the roast. You slice it. After all, that's man's work." "I don't understand why you don't want to talk to me about your office. Other husbands I know love to discuss their jobs with their wives. They even ask for their advice." "What's this blonde hair doing on your coat? We are getting real chummy with our new secretary, aren't we?" "What do you mean you need lunch money? What did you do with the $3 I gave you yesterday?" "No, I'm not going to another PTA meeting alone. Its your duty to go just as much as it is mine." "Daddy, it's not fair for you to hog the television set. Who wants to listen to another old political speech? We want to watch that new program, 'Rat-finks in Space.' It's real cool." "I spoke to the orthodontist today about Danny's teeth. He says that o sraihen hem will take about two years and $750. Do you think we ought to go ahead now — or wait until the doctor takes Danny's tonsils out?" "I thought you said your old man was such an old grouch, Judy? Why, I think he's real human—considering that he's a parent." "You're tired? What about me? If you think slaving all day for a husband and three kids is any bed of roses, let me tell you that—." "No, I don't approve of your running off to play golf with those lockerroom idiot friends of yours. This is the weekend you promised me faithfully you'd stay home and dig out the crabgrass." "What did I do with your bowling trophy? I threw it down the incinerator last fall. You can't have an atrocious looking thing like that cluttering up the house for years and years and years." "Aw, gee, Dad, don't you ever remember what it was like to be a kid yourself?"

Phils' Culp Throws 1-Hitter To Shut Out Cubs 9-0

Giants Split Doubleheader

Pirates Dumps Mets; Braves Beat Dodgers

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Ray Culp has pitched his way back into the Philadelphia Phillies' starting rotation. All it took was a near replica of teammate Jim Bunning's perfect game.

A first-inning base on balls and Len Gabrielson's sixth-inning single came between Culp and perfection, attained two days earlier by Bunning, as the 22-year-old right-hander blanked Chicago 9-0 in the second game of a doubleheader Tuesday night.

No other Cub reached base against Culp, whose early season troubles cost him a front-line job on Gene Mauch's lead-pitching staff.

Mauch, thoroughly impressed after Culp's effort, announced that the National League-leading Phils will go with five starters henceforth.

"With Bunning, (Dennis) Bennett, (Art) Mahaffey and (Chris) Short working so well," the manager said, "we just haven't been able to give Ray enough work. The doubleheaders enabled us to use him more. Now he's pitching like he did last year."

Culp, a $100,000 bonus baby five years ago, won 14 games in 1963, his rookie season, and led Philadelphia pitchers with 176 strikeouts. He reported with a sore arm this spring, dropped five of six decisions and found himself in the bullpen.

But three victories—including the one-hitter—and two complete games in his last three appearances have vaulted the young Texan back into the Phils' pennant plan.

The second-game victory gave the Phils a split of the two-nighter. Chicago took the opener 2-0 on Dick Ellsworth's five-hitter.

Second-place San Francisco divided with Cincinnati, winning 4-0 before bowing 5-4 in 11 innings. Pittsburgh defeated New York 5-1; Milwaukee beat Los Angeles 5-2 and St. Louis nipped Houston 5-4.

Culp said after the game he relied mainly on his fast ball against the Cub hitters.

"I had arm trouble late last year and early this season because I threw too much breaking stuff," he recalled.

He said Gabrielson's hit, a golfed shot off a low fast ball, surprised him. "I jammed him down and in, and he sliced it to right."

Culp wasn't ecstatic about his performance. "We're on top and I'm not a winning pitcher. If I was 10-5 with this club I'd have something to be happy about." Phillie hitters were beaming after their 17-hit supporting role in the second-game victory. Wes Covington homered, Richie Allen cracked three doubles and John Hershman had four hits, including a pair of doubles.

The opener was another story. Ellsworth breezed to his ninth victory in 15 decisions. Ernie Banks singled home one run and rookie Billy Ott doubled in the other.

Marty Keough's lead-off homer in the 11th inning earned Cincinnati a split with San Francisco and kept the Giants 1½ games behind Philadelphia. Jim Hart's eighth inning homer, his second of the game, had pulled the Giants even.

Juan Marichal scattered seven singles in the opener and ran his record to 5-3. The Giants scored all their runs in the third inning, Duke Snider and Jose Pagan singling home two each. Dick Schofield drove in four runs, three on a homer, and Vern Law pitched his fourth straight victory as the Pirates handed the Mets their 11th loss in 12 games.

Milwaukee snapped a seven-game losing string, rallying for three runs in the seventh on doubles by Hank Aaron and Felipe Alou and singles by Lee Maye and Joe Torre, to overtake the Dodgers. Frank Howard hit his 16th homer for Los Angeles and Ed Matthews his sixth for the Braves.

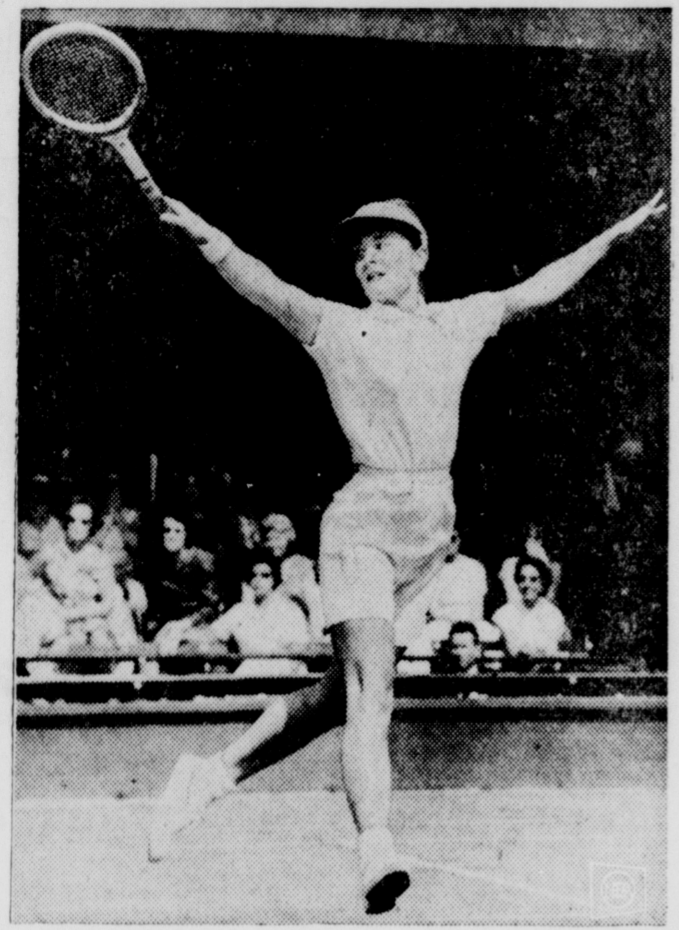

Rusty Staub's second error of the seventh inning allowed Tim McCarver to score St. Louis' winning run after John Bate-man's homer had lifted the Colts into a 4-4 tie in the top of the inning.

Nicklaus Has Eye On Cleveland Open

By FRITZ HOWELL

Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (AP)—The big money golf tourists are beginning to bunch up, but youthful Jack Nicklaus is taking steps to stay on top.

The 24-year-old Columbus star, who paces the pack with $51,426 despite picking up only $400 in last week's National Open, has an eye on the $20,000 top prize in the $110,000 Cleveland Open, which starts its four-day, 72-hole medal-play grind Thursday.

While runner-up Arnold Palmer ($49,651) and fourth-place Tony Lema ($40,561) passed up practice rounds Tuesday over the 6,821-yard, par-71 Highland Park course—the last free round ride around the rugged municipal layout—Nicklaus measured every inch of it.

Instead of cooking up a "skin game" with some of the other competitors, Nicklaus went out alone with only his caddy tagging along. He kept no score, but he had a score card full of notes when he came in.

Also missing the practice jaunt were Ken Venturi, last week's surprise winner of the National Open, and classy Dow Finsterwald. The temperature was in the 90s, and tornado warnings were flying to discourage much of the talented field of 149 professionals and 10 amateurs.

Fifty of the pros had a picnic today as each teamed with three amateurs in a best-ball handicapped round with $10,000 going to the play-for-pay group. The professionals paid no entry fee, but each of the 150 amateurs tossed $200 into the pot.

The $200 gave each amateur, in addition to the 18-hole jaunt with a top-ranked pro, six tickets and a parking sticker for the remainder of the tournament.

The professional shooting today's best round was due for a $1,000 prize and the pro in the leading foursome had an $800 payoff on tap. So one of them could possibly pick up $1,800.

Cotton Fights Thornton Next, Eyes Title Bout With Champ

By JACK HEWINS

SEATTLE (AP)—Eddie Cotton said today he isn't crossing his fingers. He might break one.

Freshly turned 38 and looking much too healthy for his own good, ol' Breaks 'n' Aches Eddie is winding up training this week at his home base for a July 3 bout in New York with Wayne Thornton.

The winner expects to earn a crack at Willie Pastrano's lightweight title in September—and that's the break Eddie has been hoping for.

If the Cottons keep a family album it's probably full of X-ray pictures. Lanky Ed has been knocked out only once in a ring career dating back to 1947, but he's been on the medical shelf so often the doctors think his name is Eddie Fracture.

The tally—not counting mere sprains—is four broken hands, two to a side; one fractured pelvis; one bout with pneumonia which he won by a narrow decision.

Cotton started getting the breaks literally when he cracked his left mitt on the jaw of Dave Whitlock in California in 1956. He signed up the same year to box Archie Moore but broke the same hand again in training.

The jinx abandoned Ed for six years while he interspersed fist-cuffs with his job as a toolmaker at the Boeing airplane plant here. A day or two before he was to fly to Peru and box Mauro Mina in January 1962, a 75-pound chunk of aluminum popped out of a shaping press and tagged Eddie in passing.

It broke his pelvis, sprained his right hand badly and left him in the hospital on fight night. The bout was put off to October and Cotton lost a split decision to Mina but got a rematch for January of unlucky 1963. He lost again while breaking his right hand on the Mina topography. In May he tested the hand on Henry Peterson and won by a knockout, but he broke it again in June in the process of defeating Chick Calderwood at Glasgow, Scotland. By October he was back in the ring, whipping Hank.

Since then Cotton has broken nothing except the heart of his manager, George Chermers. This he accomplished by catching pneumonia on the eve of a televised fight at Chicago in March. The Thornton scrap will be his first since recovery.

Paxson Hurls 1-Hitter As Eagles Triumph

Shaffer Ford Upsets Sekely 4-1 For 1st Win Of Season

Shaffer Ford pulled one of the biggest upsets of the season in junior baseball Class F competition last night.

Previously beaten six times, Shaffer's handed league leading Sekely's its first loss of the campaign 4-1 at Memorial Park.

Jack Brantingham, who pitched all the way for the winners, held Sekely's to two hits, while striking 10 and walking one.

The winners took a 2-0 lead in the first inning, and held a 4-1 margin in the sixth. Shaffer tallied another run in the seventh but it wasn't allowed as rain washed out the frame and ended the contest.

Ralph Gabriel socked a double and single and Kirk Hamilton had a pair of hits for the winners.

Both of Sekely's (6-1) hits came in the first inning, when Dan Papi belted a triple and Mike Palmer a double to score the losers only run.

IN OTHER ACTION, Elks scored in every inning to clip Farmer's Bank 11-3.

Dave Paxson, who pitches for the Eagles in Class G, had a bid for his second no-hitter of the season ruined when Joe Sabatino of UCT led off the seventh inning with a double.

The Eagles knocked off their opponent 9-0 at Centennial park, picking up their seventh win in nine starts, while Mike Meough hurried a two-hitter to pace Petrucchi's to a 7-3 victory over National Cleaners.

Quaker Manufacturing evened its season record as it trimmed Merchants Vending 15-4 in Class H at Buckeye Field.

VFW broke a 4-4 tie by scoring six runs in the top of the fifth against Famous Market in Class E competition, but the game doesn't count. Rain put a halt to the contest at that point with only two away in the frame. The two teams will replay the game at a future date.

Key hits for Elks (4-3) against Farmers were triples by Steve Smith and John Yingling. George Yingling tallied three times for the winners.

Chuck Jackson led the bankers (2-5) with a triple and single.

PAXSON, WHO hurled a no-hitter against National Cleaners earlier in the season, struck out nine and walked only two UCT (4-5) batters. Ken Smith led the winners with a triple and double.

Larry Hrvatin and Jim Marks had three hits apiece to spark Petrucchi's (3-5) who broke open its game with Cleaners with a four-run rally in the third inning.

Jerry Morrison and Dale Cody were the only batters for the losers (3-6) to get hits.

Quaker Manufacturing is 5-5 for the campaign. Doug Hiscow and Mark Sheen collected three singles each to spark the winners.

Ed Hardy, who had two singles, and Bill Henceroth, who slashed a double, were the only Merchants Vending (1-7) batters to get hits.

Rain Washes Out Tennis At Wimbledon

By JOHN GALE
Associated Press Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Britain will make a determined move next month to bring the great names of professional tennis back to Wimbledon's green and rain-washed turf.

As the organizers of the 78th All-England championships surveyed the ruins of Tuesday's rain-wrecked session, they enthused over their recall-the-stars scheme which will be presented July 8 to the International Lawn Tennis Federation meeting in Vienna.

If approved, it could mean the return to major tournaments of such past masters as Lew Hoad, Ken Rosewall, Tony Trabert and Alex Olmedo. All are now in the ranks of the paid players.

Said Basil Reay, secretary of the British Lawn Tennis Association:

"We will make a hard effort to get the British plan through. It will be a terrific disappointment for Britain if we can't get an open Wimbledon next year though I hasten to add it is not the end of the world."

The British plan proposes that tennis countries should be given sanction to stage experimental open tournaments during 1965-66. Alternatively, it says that whatever other countries do, Wimbledon should be allowed to go it alone with the experiment during the two-year period.

The British plan needs two-thirds of the Vienna vote for approval. It seems unlikely to be forthcoming.

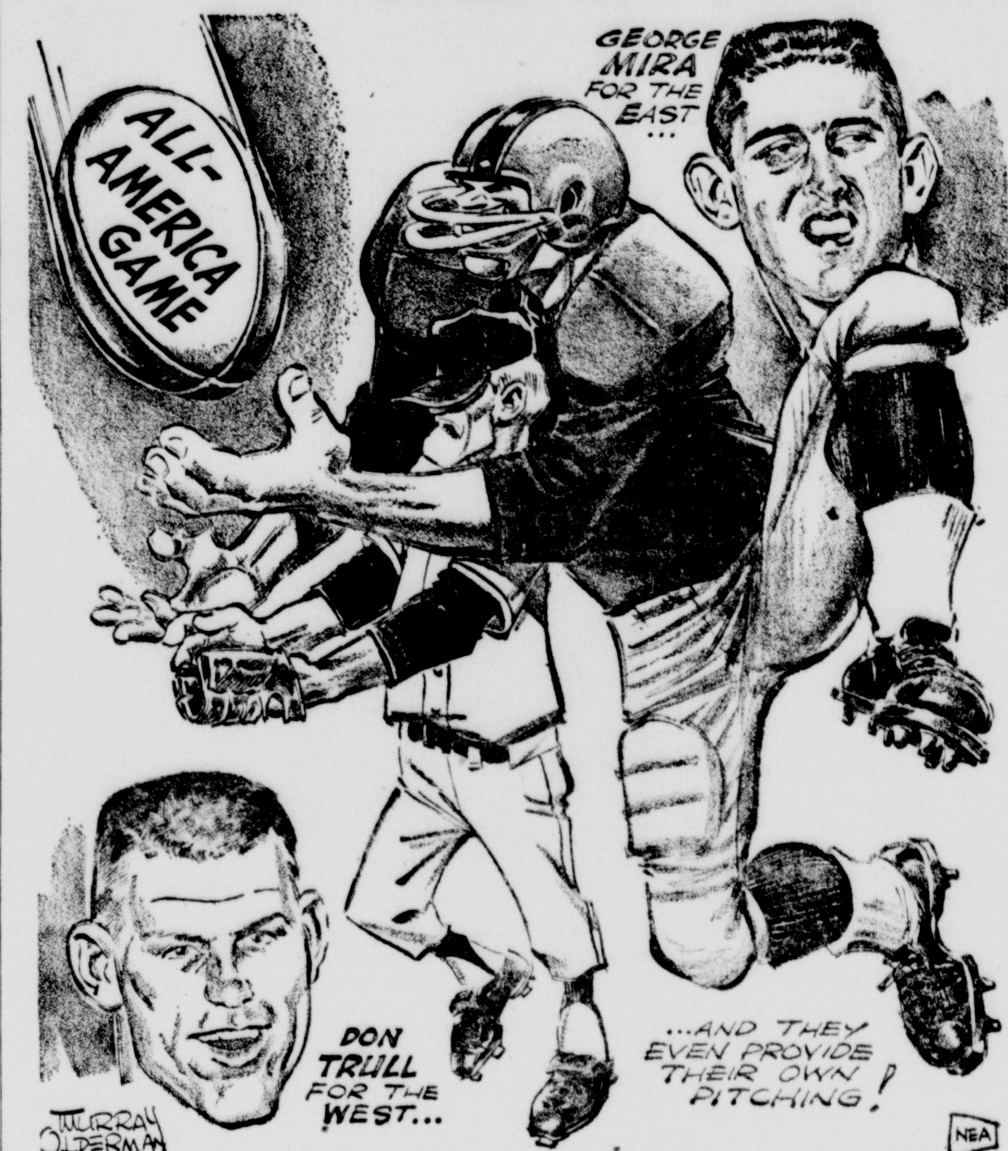

The Australian Association already has said it will vote against the British proposals. The United States is expected to do likewise.

Tuesday's watery Wimbledon lasted just long enough to demonstrate again the rising standard of Soviet tennis.

Anna Dmitrieva, 23-year-old Russian girl, took the first set 6-4 in her first-round match against Karen Hantze Susman of San Antonio, Tex., winner of the 1962 Wimbledon title. The match was called off with the Russian leading 2-1 in the second set after the slippery court surface had spilled Mrs. Susman five times.

Only a dozen contests were completed—less than one sixth of the program. But there was time enough for the two top seeds, Margaret Smith and Maria Bueno, to romp through their opening assignments.

Angels' Smith, Shifted To Outfield, Socks Homer In 2-0 Win; Yanks Lose

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

When Hollywood made the movie, "Angels in the Outfield," they weren't talking about Willie Smith. All of the Angels, however, are talking about him now.

The movie was a story of the heavenly kind of angels in the outfield of the Pittsburgh Pirates. But Smith, a Los Angeles Angel, has been a devil at bat.

The pitcher turned outfielder lashed two singles and a two-run homer Tuesday night, sparking Los Angeles to a 2-0 triumph over Washington. The victory was the seventh straight for the Angels, equaling the longest winning streak in the majors this season.

It also marked the second consecutive night Smith won games with his bat. His pinch-hit single the night before drove in the tie-breaking run in a 5-2 victory over the Senators.

The 25-year-old lefty was a pitcher until Manager Bill Rigney decided Smith deserved a trial as a hitter. Rigney now believes there's never been anyone more deserving.

Smith reached the majors last year with Detroit. He pitched in 11 games, gaining a 1-0 record and a 4.50 earned run average. The Angels acquired him April 29 in a trade for Julio Navarro.

As a southpaw hurler this season, Smith has a poor 1-4 record in 14 relief appearances and one start but has a respectable 2.81 ERA.

When Smith was inserted into the line-up for his hitting, Rigney didn't fool around. The manager placed him in right field and made him the No. 4 hitter. Smith's performance Tuesday night rocketed his average 40 points to .319. He has two home runs and 10 runs batted in for 47 times at bat.

His pinch-hitting record is even more amazing. He has seven hits in 14 chances, with five of the hits coming in his last seven tries.

That's pretty heavenly in Rigney's book.

Elsewhere in the AL Tuesday night, Baltimore nipped New York 9-8, Chicago blanked Boston 2-0, Minnesota whipped Cleveland 6-2 and Detroit trampled Kansas City 9-3 after losing 2-1.

Smith's homer in the eighth inning broke up a scoreless pitching duel between the Angels' Dean Chance and Bennie Daniels. Chance wound up tossing a four-hitter for his fifth victory against three defeats. The shutout reduced his ERA to 1.91.

The Yankees appeared well on their way to an easy victory when the Orioles struck for seven runs after two were out in the eighth. Pinch hitter Charley Lau ignited the comeback with a single and climaxed it with a run-scoring double.

Brooks Robinson and Willie Kirkland each singled home two runs in the inning, when it was all over, Baltimore was in first place one-half game ahead of New York. Elston Howard, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris homered for the losers.

Fred Talbot scattered eight hits for the White Sox. Pete Ward homered, and J. C. Martin knocked in Chicago's second run with a double in the sixth inning.

Harmon Killebrew smashed his 23rd homer in the Twins' triumph. Jim Kaat hurled a five-hitter, losing a shutout in the ninth on Bob Chance's two-run single. Kaat singled home one of Minnesota's three runs in the second.

The Tigers salvaged a split of their doubleheader with the Athletics behind the hitting of Dick McAuliffe and Al Kaline. McAuliffe connected for a grand slam homer in the eighth while Kaline batted in three runs, two with a single in the second.

Rocky Colavito's two-run single in the fifth inning won the first game for Kansas City. His hit was only the second off Joe Sparma, who was making his first major league appearance.

Father's Day was observed at the Christian Church Sunday with prizes given to Perry Cook of Canfield, oldest; Robert Callahan, youngest; and Almus Bearisley, most children. Each father received a gift.

SEEK BANK ROBBER

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A young man used a sawed-off shotgun to rob the West Toledo Branch of the Lucas County State Bank of approximately $3,000. The man, between 20 and 22 years old, pulled the shotgun from a paper bag Tuesday and demanded money from teller Mrs. Mary Mithen.

Manager Thomas Eley, the only other person in the bank, said the robber was in the bank only about three minutes and fled on foot after warning against sounding an alarm.

Thief Gets Pennies For His Trouble

LISBON — Approximately $1.50 in pennies was stolen about 5:55 a.m. today from the Art Hoie Plymouth Garage in East Rochester by a thief who was frightened away before he could make off with additional loot, according to Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan.

Harry Lippincott and Jeff Waseman, milk men from Lippincott's Dairy, were delivering milk when they saw a man carrying three tires around the garage to the front of the building. They called Minerva police who radioed the Columbiana County sheriff's office. Deputy Herman Wellman investigated.

The tires and a two-gallon can of oil were found in front of the building by Deputy Wellman. Entry was made by forcing open the rear door of the garage, the deputy said.

Students

Lance R. Woodruff, son of Mrs. Ray Werner of Haddonfield, N. J., formerly of Salem, graduated from Macalester College at St. Paul, Minn., with a bachelor of arts degree in history and political science.

He is the grandson of Mrs. Mary Dow of 387 N. Ellsworth Ave.

MASSILLON BOY DROWNS

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — Three lifeguards were on duty, police reported, when 7-year-old Rudolph Mathes waded into water too deep for him and drowned at Fountainblue Pool here. The boy's brother, Jeffrey, 13, and his mother, Mrs. Rudolph Mathes, also were at the pool Tuesday. Jeffrey said he had warned Rudolph against wading into too deep water, but the youngster apparently ignored the warning.

BALLOON CAUSES DEATH

CLEVELAND (AP)—The corner's office said a toy balloon caused the death of 5-year-old Grace Ann Nahigian. The child swallowed the balloon Tuesday while watching television at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. K. K. Nahigian, North Olmsted.

3 Men Sentenced on Contributing Charge

LISBON — An East Palestine area and two Youngstown men were sentenced Tuesday afternoon by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin for contributing to the delinquency of a 17-year-old Columbiana RD girl.

Ludovic George Nicoladis, 42, and Charles Starr, 39, of Youngstown were each fined $300 and sentenced to 60 days in the county jail.

James W. Robb, 28, East Palestine RD 1, was given a suspended six months' jail sentence.

Robb allegedly took the 17-year-old girl to Tiger Run Inn, formerly Turkey Run Inn, east of Columbiana, last Jan. 13, where she cohabitated with the two Youngstown men, former owners of the establishment.

The girl had been sentenced to the Ohio Youth Commission, but has since been released.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: A terrible tragedy occurred in our city recently. My husband was the physician who attended four little fire victims. They ranged from 3 years of age to 10.

The parents were "down the street" at a party when the house caught fire. They saw nothing wrong in leaving the youngsters alone. Three of the children died. The 10-year-old survived, but he is so broken-hearted and bitter that he refuses to speak to his parents.

What manner of madness seems to have gripped parents these days? You need only to read the newspapers to know how frequently youngsters are left alone and burn to death. If the gay party is so important, isn't it worth the price of a sister?

I'm asking for your help, Ann Landers. You have the largest reading audience in the world. Please alert thoughtless parents to the fact that children under 12 need an adult in the house whether they are asleep or awake.

Most parents accept this responsibility gladly. If a tragedy does occur, they can face God and each other without guilt. — A MOTHER, TOO.

Dear Mother: Here it is for all parents to see. I hope with you that they will heed the warning and not have to learn the ghastly lesson first hand.

Disappointed Reader
Dear Ann: I was deeply disappointed in your answer to "Oys-Gashpilt." The poor gal was sick and tired of carrying the financial load for her husband and you gave her precious little comfort.

To begin with, I don't know if you speak German but "Oys-Gashpilt" means "played out." After 25 years of pullin' that barge and tolin' that bale, it's not hard to understand how a wife could be plenty fed up.

You told her the guy had tried and financial failure is no reason to leave a husband. You then advised her to stick with the lummox because Cary Grant is not waiting for her.

Well, for your information Cary Grant recently celebrated his 60th birthday, so it just might be that he, too, is "Oys-Gashpilt." You flubbed it, Doll. Ten lashes with an unemployment compensation check for you. — ONE ADMIRER LESS.

Dear One: I have no intention of discussing in print who is "Oys-Gashpilt" and who isn't.

Age is only a number, Baby. I'm sorry if I let you down but it's impossible to be all things to all people every day — 365 days a year.

Roaming Romeo
Dear Ann: For 12 years my about the problem but he insists it is purely friendship. Once he said, "If you don't stop making such ridiculous accusations, I'm going to live up to your low opinion of me." So you see he has me cornered.

I've cried smiling and pretending not to notice but my stomach is tied up in knots. What can I do? — SMILING ME.

Dear You: Unless you have solid evidence (you gave none in your letter) assume that he is faithful.

If you have the goods on him, however, and you can't leave for "three very good reasons" then knock off the complaints, turn on the heat and hope he grows out of his adolescence and into manhood before his children get old enough to notice.

Family Feud

Dear Ann: Our son will be 1 year old in August.

My husband's parents had a bitter divorce several years ago. His parents have both remarried but they hate each other and make no bones about it. It is not possible to have them in the house at the same time.

I don't want to give two birthday parties for our son every year and yet I don't want to offend either set of grandparents.

How should I handle this hot potato? — D. P. T.

Dear D.: Draw straws for the first birthday party and let the losers come over the night before, for a cup of coffee and a cupcake with a candle on it.

Alternate from then on — invite one set of parents one year and the other set the next year.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SINGER'S REQUEST

ADDISON, Ala. (AP) — Gospel singer S. Whit Denson sang at his own funeral. Relatives arranged that two recordings of Denson be played at his funeral service. The selections, "I Won't Turn Back," and "New Morning Sun," were favorites of the 74-year-old singer. Each recording was a quartet - with Denson singing all four parts and also playing the piano. He had requested that they be included in the service.

TV-Radio Today

BY ALAN GILL

The man who heads up ABC news, Elmer Lower will tell visitors about ABC's most prized "consultant" at the Republican convention next month former President Dwight D. Eisenhower — how the general will appear on camera, in the company of Jim Hagerty and correspondent William H. Lawrence, twice a day, beginning with a full-hour appearance on convention eve and finishing up with a 60-minute post-mortem one week later.

Lower will tell you, too, about the studio that has been set up just down the hall from Mr. Eisenhower's suite on the fifth floor of the St. Francis Hotel. But he won't make any predictions about the Eisenhower appearances—how strong they will be or how they will affect the network's audience rating.

Lower also prefers to take a "we'll-see" attitude regarding his fine anchorman, Howard K. Smith and Edward P. Morgan, though he feels it's the anchorman who win or lose a convention for a network.

"AFTER THE 1960 conventions," he says—and Lower was NBC News' manager of operations at the time—"Broadcasting magazine asked me what gave NBC the edge in Los Angeles. I told them I felt the edge was supplied by the anchorman, but that they wouldn't have stayed tuned in for long unless Huntley and Brinkley had been backed up by a solid, well-gear team.

"But names count. A program called 'The Ganges River' won't get much of a rating. Call it 'Chet Huntley's Ganges River' and people tune in. It's the marquee system and it works."

Naturally, Lower has many a resplendent word for his own marquee names, Smith and Morgan, along with his floor reporters, John Scally, Al Van and Frank Reynolds, each of whom has an "awfully good pair of shoulders."

THE FLOOR MEN over at CBS, Martin Agronsky, Dan Rather and Roger Mudd, are rather aggressive, too, according to their Election Unit boss, Bill Leonard, who calls Agronsky, a recent recruit from NBC, "the best floor reporter in TV history."

CBS, says Leonard, will do the best job at the conventions "because we've been building this thing since the middle of '62. You've seen it develop through election night that year, the assassination weekend, the primary coverage. It has a lot to do with Walter Cronkite and the next-in-line people, Eric Sevareid and Harry Reasoner.

"It has to do with an esprit that was strong under Dick Salant and now even firmer under Fred Friendly. We've gotten much, much better."

"And because a convention is an extraordinary maelstrom of humans in one pot, behaving in extraordinary ways, we'll have a kind of human commentary, as opposed solely to political commentary, which is Eric's job. Reasoner is our human commentator, then, and it'll be a key role."

"We've got John Chancellor, Frank McGee, Edwin Newman and Sander Vanocur on the floor," says NBC News General Manager Robert Northfield, "and where will you find four bigger or better names? They're matchless—though guys who can ask tough questions."

"THE STUFF" that makes us best when we are best is people. We hire reporters. And there's something else, which you might call class. I remember the night four years ago at the Republican convention when Nelson Rockefeller seconded the nomination of Nixon and went through a long string of man who's before he screamed out the name: 'Richard E. Nixon.'

"Then you could hear David Brinkley's voice, ever so quietly, repeating the letter 'M' over and over: 'M. M. M. M.' It wasn't said in a mean, insulting way. It was good news judgment. It was tasteful. It was classy."

"That same night, CBS pulled a brilliant little maneuver when Bill Downs grabbed Nixon, said, 'Here, Walter Cronkite wants to talk to you,' and clamped the old mufins on Nixon's head. Chet Huntley said, 'What you are watching, ladies and gentlemen, is the Republican presidential nominee talking to our competition.'"

But the truth is, they've all got class, right across the dial; and whether you're tuned in to CBS, NBC or ABC the weeks of July 13 or Aug. 24, or the night of Nov. 3, you're breakfasting at Tiffany's.

The diamond was probably first found in India, not earlier than 800 B. C.

A word from

THERON

at the

Country Store

Our trip is over and I am glad to be back to the Country Store. I visited many places which people have been telling me I should see.

I learned a lot and hope to put to use some of the ideas I picked up along the way.

I find the places which are doing the best business are the ones which are offering the public a little something extra.

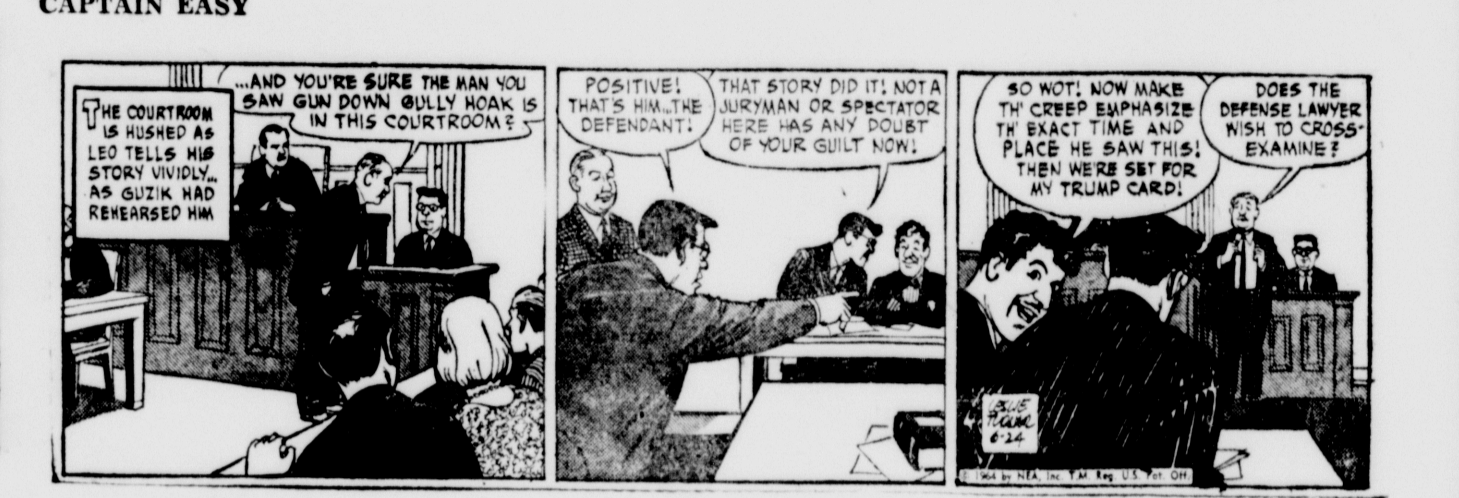

We here at the Country Store try to make your visits as interesting as we can and in the future we hope to do even better.
